

Module 6 Workbook — Design-Ready Content

"Negotiate From Strength"

Purpose of this document: the finished, design-ready content for the Module 6 workbook. Prepares the creator to negotiate a real deal: their leverage, their floor, their tactics, and their non-negotiables as ready-to-use policy statements. Uses the shared workbook design system from Module 1 (cover block, section headers, input glossary, quick-win callout, reference callout, completion gate, footer). Module-specific content below.

Annotation key: [INPUT: ...] = fillable element + suggested space · [NOTE: ...] = design intent · unbracketed text = final on-page copy.

Asset tie-ins: pulls the range + floor from Module 4 and deal-breakers from Module 3; references the Negotiation Assistant and the existing Brand Partnership Negotiation Toolkit.

Cover Block

[NOTE: standard cover component. Progress dots 1–10 with dot 6 active.] - Course: The Complete Brand Partnership Playbook - Module 6 · Negotiating Like a Pro - Workbook: Negotiate From Strength - Promise line: Walk into any negotiation prepared — with your leverage, your floor, your tactics, and your hard lines ready.

PART A — Your Negotiation Prep Sheet

[NOTE: THE pre-negotiation core. The three things that decide the outcome before it starts. Pull the floor forward from Module 4. Design as a clean, reusable one-deal prep block.]

Your purpose line (on page): Fill this before any negotiation. Preparation is where the deal is won.

Deal / brand: [INPUT: short line]

A1. Market context — what creators with my stats/niche/engagement charge:

[INPUT: long box, 2 lines] [NOTE: prompt: "from creator communities, rate-sharing groups."]

A2. Performance proof — concrete results I can point to: [INPUT: long box, 2 lines] [NOTE: example placeholder: "Last 3 sponsored posts: ~9% engagement, ~500 clicks to brand site."]

A3. My numbers [INPUT: three number fields inline] - Anchor (open here, ~15–20% above target): [number] - Target (what I actually want): [number] - Floor (walk-away minimum, from Module 4): [number] [NOTE: visually emphasize the floor — this is the line.]

PART B — Your Tactics Plan

[NOTE: turns the five tactics into a pre-decided plan for THIS deal, especially the "what will I trade?" prep, which is what prevents reflexive price-cutting. Keep practical.]

Your purpose line (on page): Decide your moves before the conversation, so you're not improvising under pressure.

B1. If they say "over budget," what will I trade instead of cutting price? [INPUT: checkbox group + note] - ☐ Reduce deliverables ☐ Shorten usage window ☐ Drop/limit exclusivity ☐ Extend timeline ☐ Other: [short line]

B2. My bundle option — a package I can offer instead of discounting: [INPUT: long box, 2 lines] [NOTE: example: "1 post $2,000 → 3 posts/2 months $5,400."]

B3. Value-adds I can offer (cost me little, feel substantial): [INPUT: long box, 2 lines] [NOTE: e.g., extra story, longer posting window, BTS content, testimonial.]

B4. The tactic I find hardest — and will practice this time: [INPUT: circle-one] Anchoring · Trading variables · Bundling · Silence
[NOTE: most will pick Silence – small encouraging line: "State your rate, then stop talking. Let them respond."]

PART C — Rehearse the Seven Objections

[NOTE: scripted-response practice. Each row pairs an objection with a fill field where the creator drafts their own response in their voice. The point isn't memorization – it's that they've thought through each one before it lands. Top three are most common; the rest are also-rans the creator picks up over time.]

Your purpose line (on page): Draft your response to each objection — in your voice. Then say each one out loud once. You'll never freeze on these again.

[INPUT: table, 7 rows. Left column = printed objection (bold). Right column = long fill box, 2 lines.]

| Brand says...                                     | My response: |
|---------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| "That's above our budget."                        | [fill]       |
| "Other creators charge way less."                 | [fill]       |
| "We can only do $X maximum."                     | [fill]       |
| "Can you be flexible on price?"                   | [fill]       |
| "We're offering great exposure."                  | [fill]       |
| "This is our standard rate, take it or leave it." | [fill]       |

| Brand says...                                   | My response: |
|-------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Stalled — silence after "I'll get back to you." | [fill]       |

Reference/example callout [NOTE: muted box.] Model — "Above our budget": "I understand — let's look at what we can adjust. We could reduce the deliverables, shorten the usage window, or drop the exclusivity to bring this closer to your budget."

[NOTE: small line below: "These are the same seven the Negotiation Assistant covers in Step 3 — your responses here become your starting point when you use the tool."]

PART D — Your Non-Negotiables (as Policy Statements)

[NOTE: core reusable asset. Each hard line written as a professional "policy" sentence the creator can use verbatim. Four buckets. Provide a model sentence to copy the tone.]

Your purpose line (on page): Your hard lines — decided now, framed as professional policies. Write each as a sentence you could say out loud.

[INPUT: four labeled fill blocks, each a long box (2 lines):] - Minimum payment (my floor): [fill] - Creative control [NOTE: ties to Module 3 deal-breakers] : [fill] - Usage rights I won't grant without major extra pay: [fill] - Exclusivity limits: [fill]

Reference/example callout [NOTE: muted box — the model that sets the tone.] Model policy statement: "I maintain a policy of not granting unlimited usage rights without compensation that reflects that extended value." (Frame as a standard, not a refusal.)

PART E — Red Flags Watchlist

[NOTE: quick-reference checklist of negotiation red flags. NOT a fill section — a scannable "if you see this, pause" list. Sets up Module 10. Keep it lean.]

Your purpose line (on page): If any of these show up in the negotiation, slow down — they may be reasons to walk, not bumps to push through.

[INPUT: checklist, reference only:] - ☐ Won't discuss payment until after content is made - ☐ Wants unlimited deliverables / usage / exclusivity for minimal pay - ☐ Offers "exposure" instead of money - ☐ Refuses to put anything in writing (or gets defensive when asked)

[NOTE: small line: "These aren't negotiation tactics to beat — they're signals. Your floor and non-negotiables protect you. Full detail in Module 10."]

Quick-win callout [NOTE: highlighted box.] Get everything in writing before any work begins — deliverables, payment amount & schedule, timeline, usage, exclusivity, revisions. No contract from them? Send a summary email and ask them to confirm. (We build the real contract in Module 7.)

Completion Gate

[NOTE: standard component.] You're ready for Module 7 when you've: [INPUT: 5 checkboxes:] ☐ Filled your negotiation prep sheet — context, proof, floor (Part A) ☐ Planned your trade-and-bundle tactics for a real deal (Part B) ☐ Rehearsed responses to the seven objections (Part C) ☐ Written your four non-negotiables as policy statements (Part D) ☐ Committed to practicing your hardest tactic (Part B)

Once the negotiation lands on "yes," the next step is getting it in writing — properly. That's Module 7.
